Air Force Negotiation Center

Chief Information Technology

Adaptive Negotiations & Mediation Instructor

---

Area of Expertise

Dr. Thomas J. Gajewski is the Chief, Information Technology at the Air Force Negotiation Center (AFNC) and serves the Department of the Air Force as an Instructional Systems Specialist for the Air University, Air War College at Maxwell AFB, Alabama. Dr. Gajewski brings to the table 40 years of mechanical / manufacturing engineering, international managerial and academic administration experience as well as significant tenure on podium.

Dr. Gajewski traces his strong work ethic back to his brief service in the US Army in Germany. Through his service, Dr. Gajewski utilized the Veteran's Education Assistance Program to earn an Engineering degree in Mechanical and Manufacturing Engineering at the University of Massachusetts @ Amherst as well as a minor in German. General Electric came knocking next and he was accepted into the prestigious Manufacturing Management Program. After two years of training, Dr. Gajewski held international marketing and manufacturing assignments in the military aircraft engine division and locomotive division of the General Electric Company. As a decade of service came to a close, Dr. Gajewski left General Electric to pursue several higher educational degrees at Pepperdine University: Masters in International Business, Masters in Dispute Resolution and a Doctorate in Education. During his advanced studies, Dr. Gajewski also held the title of Program Chair for the School of Business at Westwood College Los Angeles Campus. There his responsibilities included curriculum development and administrator/supervisor responsibility for undergraduate and graduate level business management programs.

Once completed with his studies at Pepperdine University and academic as well administrative term at Westwood College, Dr. Gajewski volunteered for a 27-month assignment with the Peace Corps and was stationed in the town of Guanajuato in the state of Guanajuato, México. His assignment there was with the world renowned CIMAT - Centro de Investigación en Matemáticas A.C. with duties encompassing International Business Advising and Cross-Cultural Organizational Strengthening Specialist. As the only United States Government representative for this region of México, Dr. Gajewski promoted and supported several established charities and non-government organizations in the local area. These include: La Conexión de Arco Iris – Fiesta Anual de Arco Iris – Charity for battered women and disadvantaged / disabled children; Amigos de Los Animales de Guanajuato Fiesta – Charity for stray animals; Brillantes Caminantes de Guanajuato – Los Arribeños Fiesta – Charity for grant scholarships to outstanding college students; and Escuela Normal after-hours English Tutoring Workshop for K-12 Teachers in Training.

Upon completion of his Peace Corps assignment, Dr. Gajewski accepted his next position with the Department of the Air Force stationed at Naval Base Ventura County Port Hueneme serving as a Supervisory Training Instructor for the Air Education and Training Command at the 344th Training Squadron, Detachment 1. Through his service, Dr. Gajewski as Intermediate Supervisor spearheaded a training section encompassing eight NCO and civilian trainers focused on developing and maintaining curriculum for the Air Force's Aircraft Rescue, Firefighting and Re-fueling Vehicles. Dr. Gajewski was also responsible for the Detachment's facilities which included 12 buildings valued at approximately 3.5 million dollars. Lastly, Dr. Gajewski's responsibilities included the role of International Military Student Officer hosting military officers from the Arab Republic of Egypt and Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan. In his free time, Dr. Gajewski served as a volunteer and treasurer for the Santa Barbara Peace Corps Association 501(c)3. This organization serves as a network and resource for prospective, current, former, and future Peace Corps Volunteers in the Santa Barbara and Central Coast area of California.

Today at Maxwell Air Force Base, Dr. Gajewski's current assignment focuses on curriculum development, research, and instruction in the areas of mediation, negotiation and conflict resolution. Being well versed in the topic, his dissertation topic was entitled, "Exploring leadership styles from a mediator's perspective: A phenomenological study examining four specific organizational leadership styles and their relationship to four mediation styles as summarized by Leonard I. Riskin." His research and experiences enhance the mission and exemplary services provided by all his highly qualified colleagues at the Air Force Negotiation Center and his contribution is a welcomed resource for all at the Department of Defense.
